Violence in Strike of Truckers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State government and industrial leaders intensified their efforts today to end the destructive strike of independent steel haulers in eight states.

But violence continued Wednesday night in troubled spots on Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana highways.

The president of Wheeling Steel Corp., Donald C. Duvall, asked Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes and West Virginia Gov. Hulett C. Smith to intervene in the strike which he said has reached "costly and critical proportions."

"In behalf of our employees, our customers and our shareholders, I earnestly urge that you exert the maximum powers of your office to bring this dispute to termination," Duvall told the governors.

Smith, reacting to another plea, said he would send West Virginia's commissioner of labor to Pittsburgh next week. Gov. Roger D. Branigan said Indiana would be represented. Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer has asked representatives of the eight affected states—Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky, Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania—to get together on finding a solution to the violence-ridden wildcat strike.

Shafer had placed units of the Pennsylvania National Guard on standby alert Tuesday when violence threatened to spread on the state's highways. The guardsmen spent the night waiting at armories, but were sent home in the morning.

State police patrols were beefed up. Troopers went on 16-hour work days. Extra cruisers patrolled western Pennsylvania and officials said additional troopers might be brought in from eastern Pennsylvania. Pittsburgh police escorted a 16-truck convoy into the city.

In Michigan, Gov. George Romney said state police would give closer protection to truckers. On the Pennsylvania Turnpike, a shot was fired at a rig, an object hurled from a passing car smashed the windshield of another truck and a car forced a tractor-trailer off the road. State police said the violence "seems to be stepping up."

A headquarters for the striking truckers at Alumbank, Pa., was dynamited. No one was injured.

New Sewage Plant Is Deodorized

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Salem's new sewage treatment plant has been deodorized, the state Pollution Control Commission said Wednesday.

Engineers decided that the plant was overloaded, causing biological problems and a smell variously described as "distinctive," "unpleasant to most people," "somewhat like badly spoiled cheese" or a "pig pen aroma."

was dynamited. No one was injured.

Two independent truck drivers were injured when they tried to block loaded trucks from leaving U.S. Steel Corp.'s Morrisville, Pa., works. They were hospitalized.

Five rigs, four of them hauling steel, were shot at today on the Indiana toll road near Portage, state police said. Two trucks were hit. No one was injured.

The strikers, drivers who own their rigs, want an increase in their cut of the steel hauling fee. They get 73 per cent now, but want 79 per cent. They also want a penalty payment — for waiting in a mill to get their truck loaded — $15 an hour after the first two hours.

Participating in Groundbreaking Services, Oct. 1, for the proposed Calvary Baptist Church building were, left to right: Hervey Holt, Sunday School Supt., Jesse Nusko, Board of Deacons Chairman; Thomas Simmons, new pastor who assumed duties that day; Kathy Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Young, who just moved their membership from South Carolina; Danny Hamilton, chairman of the Building Committee and Gilbert Ross, Training Union director.

The new building on West Avenue B will provide facilities for the Nursery, Beginner and Primary Departments of the Sunday School and Training Union.

Members of the congregation are in the background.

Somebody Lost Pants at Fair

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Wallace White, secretary of the Kansas State Fair, asks with an impish grin: "Did you forget your pants at the fair?"

Among other items that have turned up in lost and found following the close of the fair are shoes, socks, a pair of white spats, a pipe, and more than a half dozen wallets.

The pants? White describes them as red petti-pants with a fringe on the bottom.

Senate Okays Antipoverty Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed Thursday a $4.6 billion, two-year extension of the antipoverty program.

The vote was 60 to 21. Final action came after 11 days of Senate debate and a decision to strip from the measure a $2.8 billion emergency job program which its advocates said offered the best promise of fighting poverty.

The bill was sent to the House where the Education and Labor Committee has been struggling with a similar measure. Administration leaders conceded it faced a bitter fight there.

The final Senate version authorized $2,258,000,000 for the antipoverty programs of the Office of Economic Opportunity in the current year and $2.4 billion in fiscal 1969 starting next July 1.

The total for the current year is $198 million more than the $2.06 billion asked by President Johnson.

The Senate refused on a 50-36 vote earlier Thursday to cut this $198 million out of the measure.

The bill, once it is signed into law, still must be followed by an appropriation for the present fiscal year.

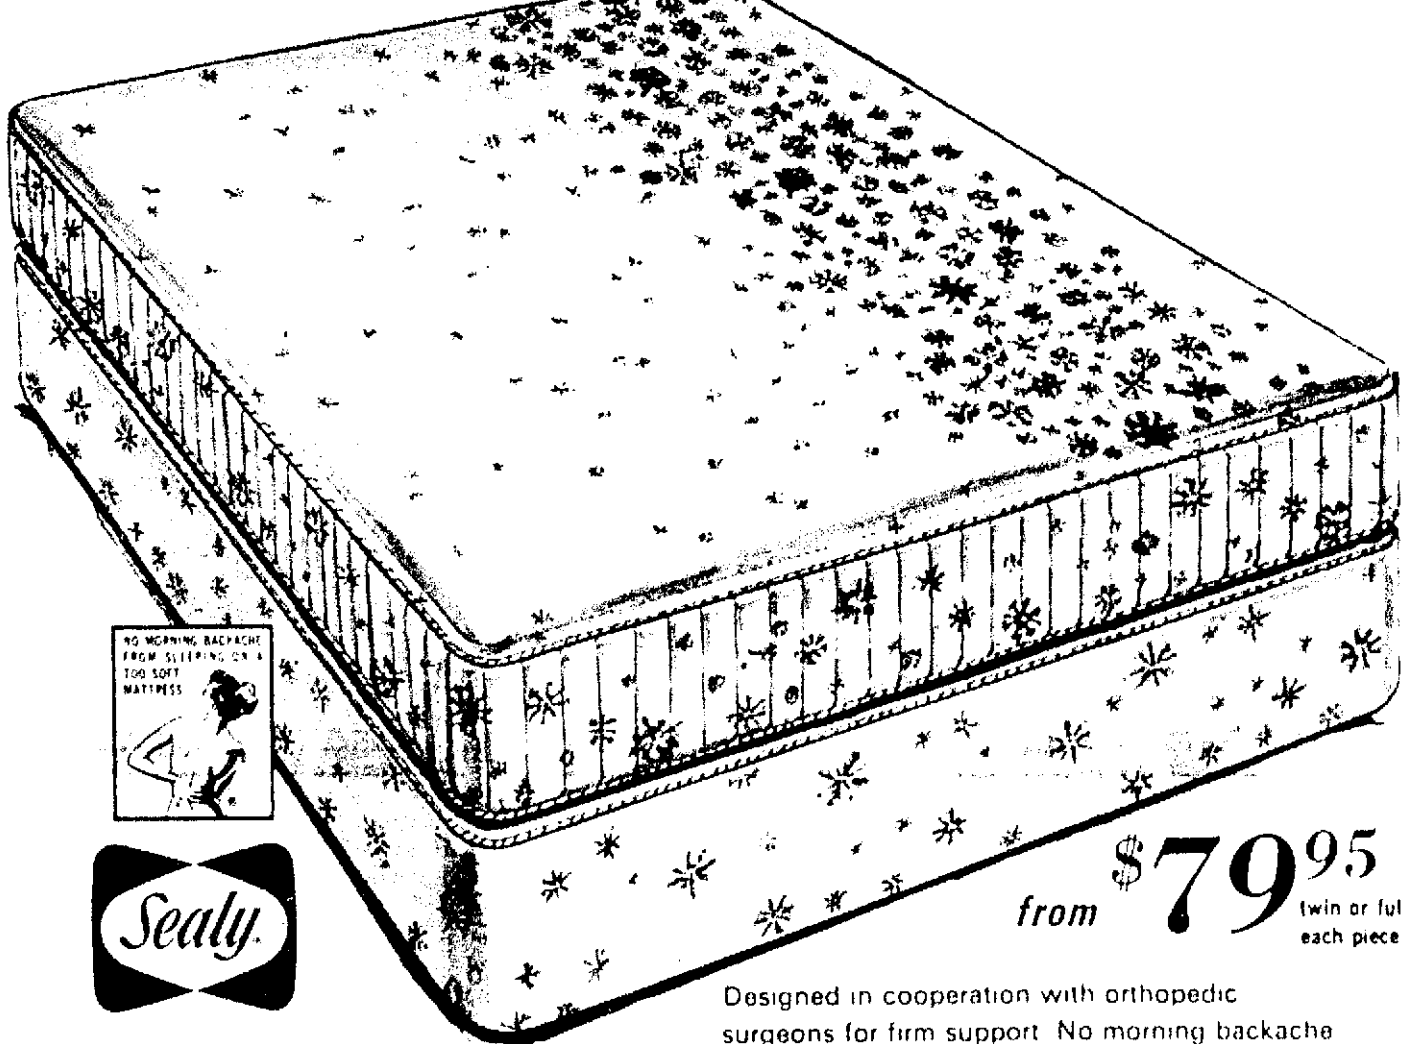

The bill represents a complete rewriting of all of the important sections of the OEO act by a Senate Labor subcommittee which has conducted a comprehensive study of the program lasting several months.

However, all of the present antipoverty projects would be funded by the bill including the Job Corps, the Neighborhood Youth Corps, Community Action which covers such programs as Head Start for preschool children, rural loans and aid to migrant workers, assistance for small business in poverty-stricken areas, work training programs for welfare recipients, and the VISTA program (Volunteers in Service To America).

Van Dyke May Portray Kennedy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor-comedian Dick Van Dyke is being considered to portray President John F. Kennedy in a film, according to his manager. Byron Paul said Tuesday his client has been conferring with the National General Corp. which has film rights to the book "With Kennedy," by Pierre Salinger, the former presidential press secretary.

But Salinger, now vice president of International Affairs for Continental Airlines, said in New York it was a misunderstanding.

"No actor or actress has been selected to play in the movie adaptation of 'With Kennedy,' nor has anyone been selected to write the screenplay," a spokesman quoted Salinger as saying. A National Guard spokesman to book but said "there has been no talk of casting it."

Old Ford Theater to Echo Anew

By DEREK SCHOEN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford's Theater, its stage empty since President Abraham Lincoln was fatally shot while watching a play there 102 years ago, soon will echo anew the sounds of live theater.

The Interior Department said Wednesday that 1860-era plays will be presented at Ford's beginning early next year. The Ford's Theater Society, a non-profit group, hopes to have a repertory group presenting a nine-month season beginning next Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday.

Announcement of the undertaking, helped along by a $250,000 grant from Lincoln National Life Insurance Co., came from Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall at a news conference in the partially refurbished theater six blocks from the White House. Ford's has been closed to tourists since the Interior Department began in 1965 a $2.7 million restoration.

Backstage is still a tangle of scaffolding and wiring but the theater interior already exudes the aura of that day—April 14, 1865—when Lincoln was shot by actor John Wilkes Booth.

Separate cotton lace and damask curtains decorate the box where Lincoln and his wife sat watching a comedy, "Our American Cousin."

On the orchestra floor are replicas of the cane-bottomed chairs used at the time. Two curving balconies are partially equipped with the type of long benches on which patrons sat.

Ornate carvings on the balcony facades, winding staircase staircases and wall and balcony candelabra—all reproduced from photos taken after the assassination—also are in place. There also are some differences.

The theater will seat only 600 instead of the 1,700 it did in Lincoln's day. Udall explained the cutback involved stricter fire regulations and "the fact we found that people of this age require broader seats."

Drive-In Church Being Planned

KENT, Wash. (AP) — Plans for a "drive-in church," which is to have 101 parking stalls, were announced by the Trinity Reformed Church Tuesday.

The idea is to attract persons reluctant to dress up for church, said architect Donald S. Olson. Drive-in worshippers will be able to see the minister and the regular congregation through large windows in a new wing the church plans to build. They will hear the service through outdoor speakers.

Boston to Start Lonborg

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski and the Boston Red Sox try for a comeback behind 23-game winner Jim Lonborg today following a 2-1 setback by St. Louis in the first game of the World Series.

Bob Gibson thwarted Yastrzemski and the rest of the Red Sox Wednesday, allowing only six hits while Lou Brock engineered the Cards' victory with a record-tying four hits and two stolen bases.

In fact, Yastrzemski felt so thwarted that he went back to the field after the game and took 20 minutes of batting practice, hoping the extra workout would help for today's encounter with Dick Hughes, who surprisingly won 15 games for St. Louis during the season.

The Red Sox were counting on Lonborg to get them even in the Series just as he got them into the Series last Sunday with a pennant-clinching triumph over Minnesota.

To accomplish that feat though, Lonborg will have to among other things, halt the red-hot Brock while Yastrzemski up his cold bat.

The American League's Triple Crown winner, who went hitless in four times at bat, spent a few minutes resting in the Boston clubhouse after the game, then changed uniforms and joined Ken Harrelson and Rico Petrocelli, who also had gone hitless, on the field.

"My hands were slow, real slow," Yastrzemski explained after emerging from the batting cage. "I wasn't using my hands enough, and I think I was dropping them a little too low."

While Yastrzemski stood in the cage swatting at pitches from third baseman Joe Foy, Brock stood on a chair in front of his locker in the Cardinals' clubhouse, sipping a bottle of orange pop, wiping his sweat-soaked face with a towel and talking about pitchers' flaws — flaws that he spots in their shoulders, their hips and their feet.

Offensively, the opposing left fielders were a study in contrast.

Brock rapped four singles in his first four at-bats — he walked his last time up — stole second in the first and seventh innings and scored the Cardinals' runs, both times on grounders by Roger Maris.

That was enough to overcome a homer by pitcher Jose Santiago that tied the game in the third inning.

Yastrzemski, on the other hand, fouled out, grounded out and flied to Brock twice. Only in the field did he show the almost unbelievable skill that enables him to make the big plays and that sparked the Red Sox to their first pennant in 21 years. When Brock singled to left in the fourth with two out and Julian Javier on second base, he fired a perfect, no-bounce strike to Russ Gibson at the plate, and Javier was an easy out. When Curt Flood led off the next inning with a line drive that rose as it neared Yastrzemski, the left fielder raced over, leaped and snared the ball, averting a sure double or triple.

Those big plays, however, were not enough to overcome Yastrzemski's lack of production at the plate. "If you're swinging the bat well and feel good like I did that last couple of weeks of the season, you'll hit anyone," he said. "But if you feel like I did today, my six-year-old son could get me out."

"If I'd hit a little we should have won today. We're still going to win the Series, though, and I can't wait until tomorrow."

Batu in the Cardinal clubhouse, Brock was talking about the first game, the one that made the Cardinals even bigger favorites to win the series.

"All pitchers have flaws," Brock said, explaining the method that has made him the National League's base stealing champion the past two years. "I've never seen a pitcher that didn't have a flaw."

"The flaws fall into three categories—the shoulders, the hips and the feet. You take just one look at a pitcher, and you can tell what his flaw is. It doesn't matter who the pitcher is or whether you've seen him before or not.

"Santiago had a flaw, I spotted it right away."

Brock spotted it so quickly that he stole second in the first inning on Santiago's first pitch to the next batter, Curt Flood. After he singled in the seventh, he again stole on the first pitch to Flood.

He then moved to third as Flood grounded out and scooted home on Maris' grounder to second baseman Jerry Adair, who with the rest of the Boston infield was playing in close.

"Jerry didn't have any play at the plate," Boston manager Dick Williams said. "If the ball had been hit straight at him, it would have been different. But give Brock credit. He's a great runner."

That run wiped out the wholly unexpected blast that Santiago placed on top of the left-center field wall, about 360 feet away from home plate, in the third inning. That blow came on an 0-2 pitch.

"I hung a curve ball on him," Gibson said. "It was a bad pitch. I've made 'em before, and I'll make them again."

Gibson didn't make too many other bad pitches. Fully recovered from a broken leg suffered July 15, the fireballing right-hander struck out 10 in the Cardinals' last Series, in 1964, Gibson set a record by striking out 31 in 27 innings.

Besides Santiago, no other Red Sox advanced past second base, and only two got that far.

Besides the home run, Santiago had only one other thing to be happy about. He put down Orlando Cepeda, his friend from Puerto Rico, four straight times.

Santiago has faced the Cardinals' slugger in winter ball at home, and he was asked if that had been a factor.

"I don't think that had anything to do with it," Cepeda said. "I was just missing the pitches."

Bobcat Foe Friday Is Fast Team

By RALPH ROJTON
Star Sports Writer

Have you ever wondered why the Arkansas Razorbacks always schedule an easy opponent for the week following the big Texas game? The reason is that even that championship team can have a down after important matches with tough foes.

The Hope Bobcats do not have that advantage this season, with four rugged 4-AA matches on successive weeks with Malvern, Crossett, Fairview, and Magnolia. Tomorrow evening the Bobcats celebrate Homecoming against the Crossett Eagles, and Hope will be trying to break off a two-game losing string.

Needless to say, the Cats were readied to the fullest extent for the Malvern Leopards last Friday, but now Freddie Glaze's men have to face those perennial winners from Crossett. The Homecoming Queen for 1967 is Miss Gail Hartsfield, who will reign along with nine maidens chosen by the senior Bobcats. The maids are: Carol Anthony, Penny Burke, Donna Cole, Betty Gaines, Twila Hunt, Darla James, Jeanne Pruden, Ellen Turner and Debbie Watson.

The royalty will wear formal for the afternooon pep rally at HHS, at which Johnny Graves, Burgess Garrett, and Wesley Huddleston, all former Bobcats, will be guest speakers. Two senior footballers will escort each of the maids as she enters the field and is seated behind the team on the sidelines.

About Hope's fourth conference opponent, Crossett sports a 3-1-1 record on the season, and the Eagles are 2-1-1 in district play. Their only loss was suffered at the hands of the Magnolia Panthers 10-0. Head Coach John Pierce's squad is small but quick, able to run as well as pass.

At the ends are two one-year lettermen, Sam Ethridge (150) and Bob Carter (155). Of the whole bunch Ethridge is probably the best pass receiver, and he also handles the Eagles' punting chores well. Starting at tackles will be Jerry Morgan (165) and Roger Kelley (160), a pair of fine blockers.

Dwight Goodwin (140) and Steve Blankenwhip (140) are the guards, and both seniors are quick hitters. At center is Junior Julian Walker, a 150-pounder. You can believe these weights if you want to, but they come straight from a program, which can be lenient in measuring size and mass.

In the backfield Pierce has slick Tommy Holliman (150) at quarterback, and Holliman is ably backed by Junior Steve Knisley, a fair passer. Most likely halfback Ricky Riles has not recovered from his injury, so his position will be taken by Tom Elliott, a 150-pound senior. At slotback is Wayne Dodson, one of the finest 440-yard track men in the state, and junior Danny Walsh (160) fills the fullback position.

The Eagles have the No. 1 defense in 4-AA, but Hope's is a close second. Backing up the defensive battlers for Crossett are Travis Brantley (170), Jerry Morgan, Tom Elliott, Tommy Nix, and Mark Pierce, son of the coach. They are expected to come out in a 5-4-2 setup, with two cornerbacks on the outside and a double safety. Take your pick, Hope's size or Crossett's speed.

A-State Is Dropped to 4th Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The San Diego State Aztecs, solid leaders in The Associated Press' small-college football poll, will be seeking their 20th consecutive victory Saturday night when they meet Long Beach State.

The Aztecs will be heavily favored. Long Beach won its opener, 39-7 over California Poly at Pomona, but dropped the next two, 55-27 to San Francisco State and 35-25 to San Fernando Valley.

San Diego State was heavily favored again in the latest weekly balloting of sports writers and broadcasters on the AP's national panel. The Aztecs accumulated five votes for first-place and 118 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second etc. The leaders won their 19th in a row by beating California Poly of San Luis Obispo, 26-20, last weekend.

The Waynesburg, Pa. Yellow Jackets replaced Tennessee State in second place. Waynesburg advanced three positions after defeating Ohio Northern 48-13. Tennessee State slipped to eighth place, the result of a 14-10 setback by Texas Southern.

North Dakota State is third followed by Arkansas State, Northwestern Louisiana, Parsons and the University of Texas at Arlington.

Presbyterian, No. 9, and the University of Tennessee at Martin, No. 10, are the new teams in the rankings.

The top ten, with first place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis:

Wasn't Time for Second Guessing

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor
BOSTON (AP) — It wasn't a game for second guessing. The St. Louis Cardinals got at least one hit in each of the seven innings that Jose Santiago pitched — but managed to score only two runs.

Carl Yastrzemski, the big bat of the Boston Red Sox, was completely shackled, but Santiago surprisingly came up with a homer over the 37-foot high screen in left center field at about the 360-foot mark.

In the end it was won through the overwhelming power of Bob Gibson of the Cardinals. He struck out 10 and only two Red Sox got to second aside from Santiago's homer.

If the Cardinals hadn't won, it would have occasioned sad reviews of lost opportunities.

In the first Lou Brock got the first of his four hits and engineered the first of his two stolen bases — only to see Curt Flood strike out, Roger Maris draw a walk and Orlando Cepeda hit into a double play.

In the second, after Tim McCarver struck out, Mike Shannon and Julian Javier singled and Dal Maxvill walked — but Gibson hit into a double play.

In the third, the Cardinals finally managed to score when Brock singled again, went to third on Flood's double, and came home on Maris' grounder to George Scott.

More futility ensued in the fourth. Javier singled and advanced on Maxvill's grounder but was thrown out at the plate by Yastrzemski's magnificent peg on Brock's third single of the game.

Yastrzemski made a spectacular backhand catch of Flood's drive that opened the fifth which otherwise would have gone for extra bases. Maris then singled, but the attack fizzled out.

Shannon's single went for naught in the sixth, but in the seventh Brock got his fourth and final hit, stole second again,

Four of the top 10 teams in the Associated Press Arkansas High School Football Poll will be in action this week at Fort Smith, including two of the four Class AAA teams still unbeaten. North Little Rock, No. 5, and Fort Smith Southside, No. 9, get together in a preliminary battle Thursday night.

Fort Smith Northside and Little Rock Central, both undefeated, meet Friday night. Northside is ranked second and Central fourth. It will be the Central Division conference opener for Central.

Northside has its typical stingy defense and some big, strong backs. Central has developed a passing attack with Richard Faulkner hitting Carl Butler. The Tigers also have tailback Robert Young who has outstanding speed.

Northside's defense may be too strong. Northside 14, Central 7.

Farr Lineman of Week in the Pro AFL

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Miller Farr, who makes a living preventing other guys from catching passes, couldn't believe his eyes.

There was Denver's Steve Tensi throwing the ball right at him and here was Farr, not even wearing a Bronco uniform.

Farr, who patrols the defensive secondary for the Houston Oilers, was selected the American Football League's Defensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press today. His 39-yard touchdown run after intercepting Tensi's pass provided the winning points in Houston's 10-6 victory over Denver Sunday.

DALLAS—(NEA)—Don Meredith stood in front of the mirror and grimaced because there was a dab of blood under his chin, and if there is anything that makes Dandy, as the Dallas Cowboys call him, quail, it's the red stuff. The stray hand of a New York Giant tackler had inflicted the minor wound, and Dandy delicately worked his razor around it.

He doesn't mind shoulder separations, broken legs and twisted knees and ankles—all of which Dandy has had in his seven years as a professional quarterback.

Currently, he is working on a nasty cracked rib which he suffered in the second exhibition game of the year against the San Francisco 49ers and has managed to get hit on that spot every game thereafter until his most recent effort against the New York Giants. Then he only managed to get knifed in the back by a 265-pound tackle falling headlong on his prostrate form.

Dandy has what coaches like to refer to as a low threshold of pain. The Baltimore Colts whacked him on the tender rib, and Danny Reeves, his halfback, recalls that when Meredith dragged himself back to the huddle, he wheezed between every word as he tried to call the signals.

"This doesn't particularly bother Tom Landry, the imperious coach of the Cowboys who has nursed Meredith into a position of the indispensable man on a team recognized as one of the powerhouses of pro ball.

"As long as he feels he can get up and do the job," explains Tom, "I won't take him out. That's what makes a professional."

But one night recently, Meredith traveled to Corpus Christi to make a speech. While there, he confessed that he had a cracked rib, negating the Cowboy propaganda that tried to minimize his injury. When he came back, Landry took him aside and said, "Don, when people ask you about it, I wish you'd make it a bruised rib."

Meredith looked at him blandly, a twinkle dancing in his blue eyes, and said by rote, "I don't have a cracked rib, I have a bruised rib. I don't have a cracked rib, I have a bruised rib."

Ten times altogether, Landry put the palms of his hands out and shrugged.

In the Cowboys' season opener against the Cleveland Browns, Meredith was caught blindsided in a blitz by line-backer Jim Houston and hit full force on the bandage that cased his body. This time he dragged himself off the field, but he was back exactly one play later. When he woke up the next morning, back home in Dallas, he looked up at his wife first thing and asked, "Cheryl, how's my face?" It got any scratches on it?

He knew she was about to ask him the condition of his ribs, and this was his way of diverting attention.

So the second game, against the Giants, he wore a rib cage. The Cowboys' offensive line did a marvelous protective job against a mediocre pass rush, which left Dandy an untouchable most of the afternoon and free to complete 16 out of 28 passes for 243 yards and four touchdowns.

"He's got more command of the situation than he used to have a few years ago," noted Vince Costello, the 35-year-old middle line-backer of the Giants. "He knows what he's doing out there and when to do it. It's just a matter of poise." That's why the other Cowboys cringe whenever Don keels over from an unfriendly tackle and is a little slow getting up.

"I've seen times," recalls fullback Don Perkins, "when Don could barely get back to the huddle. He looked miserable. Anything like that happens to one of us, we send the man off the field. But he's the quarterback. We can't send him off. He's got to take himself out."

With Don Meredith, it won't happen as long as he can stand on his own two feet. Now a scratch on his face—that's something else.

Roy Attaway's Outdoor Notebook

NEW YORK (NEA)—The recent tragic killing of two young campers by grizzly bears in Glacier National Park stunned the general public, and also left conservationists in a quandary.

The grizzly is a rare and endangered species in the American West. According to those who know best, about 90 per cent of the surviving western grizzlies are within 100 miles of Kalispell, Mont., and fewer than 100 of these are in Glacier Park.

There are several puzzling aspects to grizzly attacks on tourists. For one, all have been in Glacier, which may not be so puzzling since most of the big bears are there.

The mystery about the deaths of the two youngsters is that they happened on the same night in separate incidents 20 miles apart.

Theories have been expounded, chief of which is that unusual lightning displays that week upset the big ursines. Or that the campers sleeping bags were perhaps smeared with some attracting substance such as bacon grease.

But aside from this inexplicable situation, there remains the fact that most bear attacks are provoked.

With the grizzly, it's almost always a case of hunters surprising a sow and her young. The bear reacts to simple instinct, her cubs are endangered and she must remove the danger.

There is no guarantee, of course, but there is one hard and fast rule that all experienced mountain men obey when hiking in grizzly country: make noise.

When hiking alone or with others, attach bells to your pack. Or talk. Talk incessantly. Sing. Laugh. But make noise. If mama bear hears you coming, she'll lumber away and take baby with her.

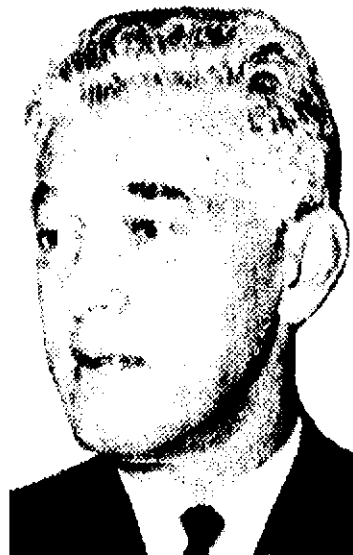

Camping is another thing. Ordinarily, a campfire is a deterrent. Obviously it was not enough at Glacier this summer, so other precautions also must be taken.

Park rangers steadfastly advise against taking bacon with you. Even a tiny whiff is enough to attract bears—even that invisible—and, to you, undetectable—smear on your sleeping bag when you unroll it with greasy fingers. Foodstuffs should be hung from a tree, away from the sleeping area.

Grizzlies aren't the only bears that attack tourists and, in most cases, the victim disregarded rules set up for his own safety.

In the Great Smoky Mount-ains of western North Carolina, for instance, black bears are a great attraction. They amble up to roadside and beg handouts from passing motorists. Signs are there, ample signs, warning against feeding the amicable-looking creatures.

But every summer some tourist will lose one side of his face by rolling down the window, handing the "cute bear" a marshmallow and playfully saying "no" when the bear wants the rest of the pack.

RED PRESIDENT of the United Nations General Assembly for 1967 will be Corneliu Manescu, foreign minister of Romania. It will be the first time in its 22-year history that the Assembly leader is a Communist from the Iron Curtain bloc.

SCULPTURE HASSLE rivaling Chicago's controversial Picasso has unfolded at Anchorage, Alaska, where the William Seward monument, honoring the man who purchased Alaska from Russia in 1867 was unveiled recently. Set at a focal point in downtown Anchorage, the memorial was sculpted from Alaskan marble by Gerald Conaway of the Alaska Methodist University staff. Comments ranged from, "I think it's beautiful . . . whatever it is," to a newspaper that wondered why they memorialized "Mr. Seward's kidney."

THE DOCTOR SAYS Coronary Care Units Hailed as Life Savers

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The coronary care units (CCU) now operating in over 300 hospitals in the United States have been hailed as the most important life-saving measure of the decade. Essentially the unit is a group of rooms in a hospital especially equipped to continually monitor patients who have had an acute coronary heart attack. It is estimated that CCUs are already saving between 50,000 and 100,000 lives a year and that they have cut in half the expected death rate of these patients.

As originally conceived, the CCU was designed to apply prompt and effective measures to resuscitate the patient who takes a critical turn for the worse. With the experience gained, however, it has been possible to detect signs of impending trouble well in advance of the critical stage and nip the trouble in the bud. This is accomplished by continuously recording the pulse rate, pressure in the veins and electrocardiographic pattern. When any of these indicate danger usually in the form of cardiac fibrillation — appropriate drugs are given.

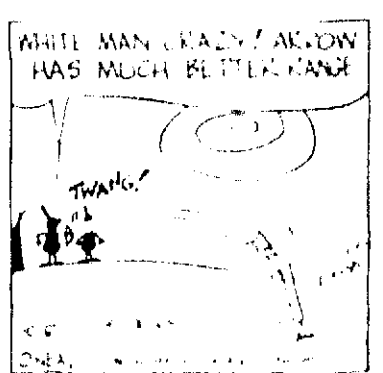

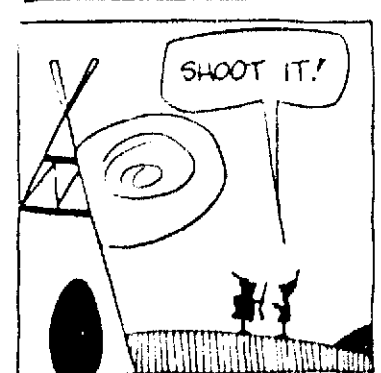

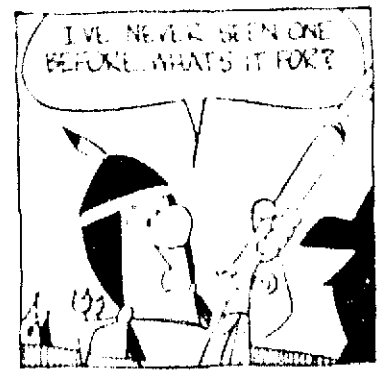

If response to the drugs is not prompt, normal rhythm is restored to the heart by an electric pacemaker. The key to a successful CCU is an alert, well-trained nurse. When she recognizes an impending crisis she must summon help promptly or, if trained in the treatment of fibrillation, she may initiate the treatment herself.

Even though the results obtained in CCUs have been impressive, efforts to improve their effectiveness are constantly being achieved. A CCU should be available in every community that is large enough to support two or more general hospitals.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Today's column is sort of a milestone in bridge terminology. We are showing an old play but are giving it a specific name which it should have received years ago.

A certain play by declarer is called the obligatory finesse because this particular finesse can win and can't lose. We are calling a certain defender's play the obligatory falcid because it can win and can't lose.

South ducks the first spade but has to win the continuation. He can count seven tricks only but has chances for more in every suit except spades. The best chance is in hearts so South leads the deuce of hearts and finessees dummy's jack after West plays the five.

South can now count eight sure tricks. He plays out dummy's king of hearts and West must drop the queen. Since the jack has been played the queen and ten become equals but South knows that West holds the queen. He does not know who holds the ten.

Q—A little over a year ago I had a gall bladder operation. As a result of this, I lost my memory. Is there any cause of cure for this loss? How South can now count eight sure tricks. He plays out dummy's king of hearts and West must drop the queen. Since the jack has been played the queen and ten become equals but South knows that West holds the queen. He does not know who holds the ten.

Without the use of this obligatory falsecard by West, South would surely drop the queen later on and make his ninth trick. South might still drop the ten but he might not. The play would continue with South leading a low diamond from dummy and ducking in his own hand. East's ten would hold the trick and East would lead another spade. Then South would lead a diamond to his ace and another diamond back to dummy's king. East would show out and the chances are that South would reason that since West was long in diamonds he would be short in hearts. Then West would finesse against the ten of hearts and West would take his ten of hearts plus enough tricks to set three no-trump.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bettel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT! This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! This newspaper.

JOB SEEKER GETS STRONG LECTURE

Dear Teen Readers: Almost all of you will someday fill out job applications, if you haven't already.

You've been told many times: Be neat. Be concise. Be accurate. Spell proper names right, especially if they are the names of your prospective employers. Above all, list every qualification both in training and special skills.

Perhaps the following letter, written by an Oregon employer, will make you see how important first impressions are. The writer, Claude Logue, sent a copy to his local newspaper, the Grants Pass Daily Courier, who has given me the permission to reprint it.

Dear Applicant: I don't usually answer employment applications by letter, but I feel I must reply to yours. I wish to give you some advice, and I hope you will take it constructively.

I will not hire you. My decision is based upon the appearance of your application. I have seen sloppier ones. Have hired people who couldn't spell. However, your application shows strong evidence that you are careless and negligent. I cannot afford to hire people like this. If spelling were the only factor, the effect would have been different, but when words are spelled right on place and wrong in another, it can only be attributed to carelessness. People who are careless in industry are accident-prone, both to themselves and to those with whom they work.

Your application is your first contact with a prospective employer and should be of prime concern to you, because it may or may not result in a pre-employment interview. Poor first impressions are very difficult to remove. . . . anywhere you apply for employment.

On your application form you misspelled the name of the street where you live, the name of your former employer (you spelled it right in another place) and the church you attend. You misspelled the month you terminated from your previous job, and you listed your duties as "holding food selves." My impression is that you really don't care if you work or not.

Again, first impressions are lasting, so the next time you complete an application, I sincerely hope that these few words of constructive criticism will come to your mind and that you will take time to make that first impression the very best you can. Sincerely yours . . .

Job applications are your introduction. Sometimes they can clobber your prospects faster than bad breath. Check them over twice, then ask an educated friend to check them again. And for goodness sakes: use the dictionary. Don't be like the gal who applied for stenographic work and put down as her present occupation: "Secretary." — H

Dear Helen: My parents say that if I have a problem, I should come to them. Well, I try, but when I tell them anything and try to explain, they laugh and say, "That's silly. Now go back to bed." I guess maybe that's why so many kids bring their problems to you, Helen. — NO-BODY LISTENS

Dear N.L.: You are so right, honey . . . And your parents are so very wrong. If adults could only look back to their childhood and remember how real those so-called "silly" problems were, they'd stop laughing and listen! — H

Police Chief Suspended at Benton

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — The Benton City Council reinstated a former police sergeant Tuesday night, suspended the police chief who had dismissed him and called for an investigation of the police department and circumstances surrounding the sergeant's dismissal.

The action followed a hearing requested by John Cook, who was dismissed by Police Chief Jim McClintock Sept. 28, five days after he had taken part in the seizure of a trailer van loaded with some $50,000 worth of gambling equipment.

The council voted 6-4 to reinstate Cook and former Patrolman Al Brumelow, who also took part in the seizure and who resigned Sept. 29 in protest of Cook's dismissal.

Mayor Noel H. Butler Jr. said he would ask for an immediate investigation by the Saline County Grand Jury.

Cook, who contended that McClintock had fired him without giving cause, testified during the hearing that he hadn't notified McClintock before the trailer was seized because, "I think if he'd been notified, the trailer wouldn't have been there."

The trailer was parked near a watchman's shack at the Belvedere Sand and Gravel Co., here. Each of the slot machines, dice tables and other gaming devices was labeled with the name of a private club in Hot Springs. Thirteen clubs were represented. Officers theorized that the equipment was taken out of Hot Springs after State Police raids on several clubs there.

Policemen and city officials broke it up with sledge hammers and then burned it last Friday on orders from Municipal Judge John L. Hughes. Hughes also had issued the warrant under which the trailer was searched and seized.

Cook said during his hearing that shortly after he had obtained the warrant and seized the trailer, acting on a tip picked up by Brumelow, he got an anonymous telephone call at police headquarters. He said the caller told him that if he wanted to keep his job, he'd better notify the chief about the seizure and no one else. Cook said he called the mayor instead.

Cook said McClintock didn't speak to him from the time the trailer was seized until he fired him Sept. 28. He said McClintock had gone into a "mad fit" about the seizure, and that McClintock had said publicly that he was washing his hands of the whole affair.

McClintock, who was suspended by a vote of 8-2, told the council that Cook was fired for insubordination.

Negro Enters Mayor's Race at Memphis

By BILL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — State Rep. A. W. Willis, seeking to become the first Negro mayor of this old South city, pegged his hopes on a quick victory today that would preclude a runoff.

Willis, first Negro elected to the Tennessee legislature since the Populist period early in the century, faced six white candidates given a mathematical chance of receiving a majority of the vote cast.

But unless he does, the odds are slim that he will become the first popularly elected mayor of a major Southern city.

If no candidate receives a majority of the votes today, the top two will meet in a runoff Nov. 2, and there the mathematics would run strongly against the 42-year-old Willis.

Final figures from the board of elections showed 155,270 registered white voters and 80,033 Negroes registered to vote.

Polls opened at 8 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Today's election was not a primary. Candidates ran without party designation, the tradition in local elections here. The early October election date was set to allow time for a runoff, if one is necessary, and for setting up a new mayor-council government, approved by the voters last year.

The six white candidates ranged against Willis were the present mayor, a past mayor, the sheriff, two members of the city commission and a woman airport operator.

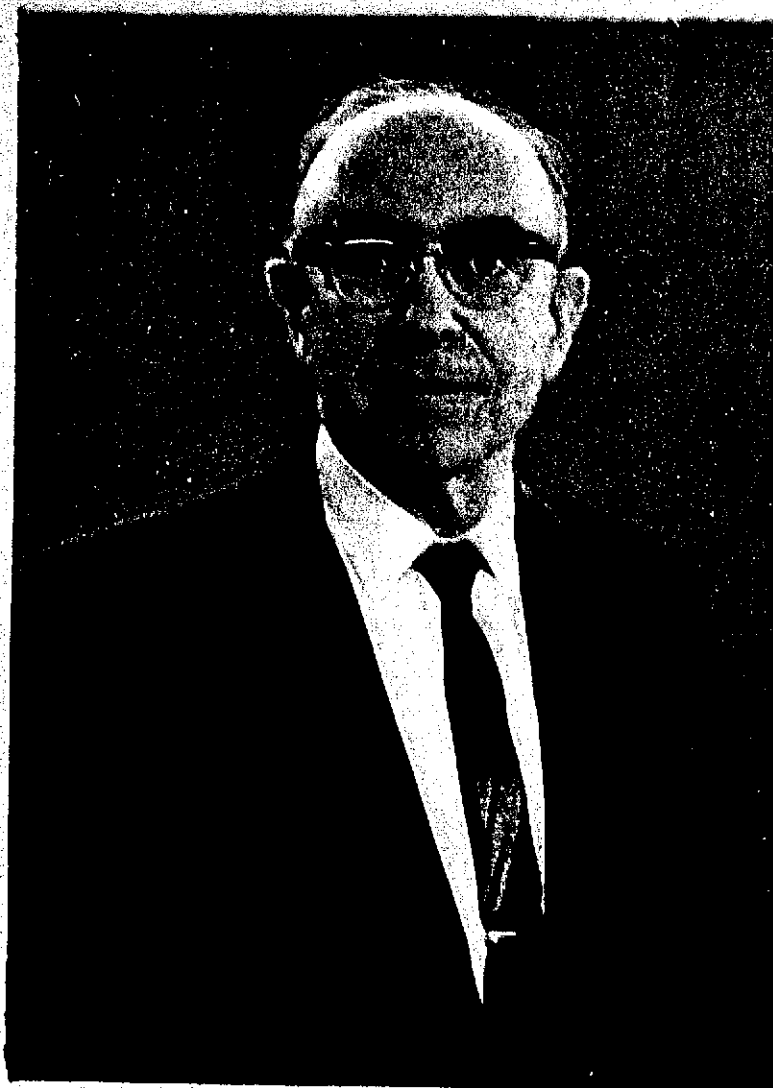

Many observers believed Willis would get substantial white support, but might not be able to count on all the Negro votes. He would have to draw a Negro bloc vote, plus white support, to gain victory today or even a spot in a runoff.

In the final week before election Mayor William B. Ingram Jr., and City Commissioner Hunter Lane Jr., both of whom have had substantial Negro support in the past, increased their wooing of these voters.

Sanders Tells Americans to Watch Course

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Doug Sanders warned 10 of his fellow Americans today "watch this course of St. Andrews, playing conditions change by the minute."

Of the field of 19 chasing the first prize of $55,000 in the Alcan Golfer of the Year Tournament, starting today, Sanders is the only American who has played the Old Course.

Sanders, of Tulsa, Okla., played in the British Open here in 1964 and found it a tough course to tame.

"It doesn't matter how much you play this course in practice," he said. "Conditions change so quickly to be unbelievable."

Billy Casper of Peacock Gap, Calif. — the 4-1 favorite to take the first prize — agreed with Sanders.

"I played this course only in practice," Casper said. "But the wind changes so quickly that it's almost impossible to chart the course correctly."

Gay Brewer, reigning United States Masters Champion from Dallas, Tex., was 7-1 second favorite with Bobby Nichols, Louisville, Ky., and Sanders bracketed at 9-1.

Nine Killed in Border Clashes

SAN'A, Yemen (AP) — Hospital authorities reported today that five Yemenis and four Egyptians died in Tuesday's clash growing out of protests that coincided with the arrival of an Arab peace commission seeking to end the Yemen civil war.

Ricky, now 16, faces a world that will not focus in his impaired mind. The simple friendliness he displayed when he was found abandoned at the Miami International Airport two years ago has turned to hostility.

Ricky, who had three pennies and a half-eaten sandwich in the pocket of clothes that had the labels snipped out, was the center of a week-long search for the red-haired woman who witnesses said accompanied the boy and then vanished.

She turned out to be his mother, Mayne Thorne, who said at the time she "would do it again."

This week she and her husband, Victor Thorne, did.

"They've dumped him again," said Juvenile Court Judge Sid Weaver.

The Thornes dumped Ricky by refusing to pay for his upkeep in Miami and moving from their suburban Detroit home to a remote section of Canada where they cannot be readily reached, the judge said.

Their new home is on an isolated island called Jans Suci, French for "without care."

When Mrs. Thorne and her husband, a well-to-do tool-and-die company executive, were located in 1965 Mrs. Thorne said she brought the boy to Miami and left him "because we love him" and because he had been a burden.

By court order, Ricky was put in a county home and finally taken into a school for the retarded. His parents were not charged with child neglect because Ricky's mother agreed to submit to psychiatric treatment in Detroit and because they agreed to pay for costs of treatment.

For a time Ricky did well at the school, learning to write his name and utter the sound of "S" on command.

Then he became hostile and began assaulting other children and attendants.

The Thornes were told their son would have to be returned to his family.

The Thornes replied, "We (Dade County) had a problem, and that they were very sorry, but they would not take him back." Juvenile officer Barron Shields said.

Judge Weaver said Ricky was ordered confined to a county home temporarily. That, however, causes a legal problem because Ricky's parents never resided in Florida.

Similarly, the state of Michigan has declined to accept the boy because his parents have moved to Canada. Canadian authorities likewise decline.

Demos Want to Shorten Campaign

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders reportedly favor a post-Labor Day nominating convention in 1968 to shorten the campaign in which President Johnson is expected to seek reelection.

The party's site committee, meeting here this weekend, is expected to pick a convention city from among Miami Beach, Fla., Chicago and Houston, Tex. The national committee will decide finally on the site and dates.

Johnson, once reported to favor Houston, is depicted as wishing to avoid stirring anew the slightly cooling embers of the party fight that developed between Gov. John Connally and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., during the President's recent tour of Texas flood areas.

Many influential party leaders argue the Democrats ought to emphasize their interest in the politically doubtful Midwest by staging their show in Chicago. The availability of a convenient hall there is plaguing them.

If the Democrats go to Miami Beach, they are not expected to agree to back-to-back conventions. The Republicans open there Aug. 5.

Such an arrangement would save some convention costs and would be convenient for the news media, but political considerations may outweigh this.

Democratic leaders hope Republicans will have a knock-down battle over their choice of a nominee and split widely on their platform and Vietnam.

Basic Reason for the War Is Defense

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — In his explanation to the nation about the war in Vietnam President Johnson put great emphasis on one point which for a while did not get much attention.

This was it: the basic reason for American involvement in the war is defense of this country's national security or, put more simply, to stiffen communism so it can't eventually endanger the United States itself.

Most of the arguments so far have skipped over this key question about American involvement and, instead, have taken several different directions such as these: that American bombing should be intensified, slowed down, or stopped.

"But," Johnson said in his talk last Friday night, "the key to all we have done is our own security." And he quoted former President Dwight D. Eisenhower as saying the loss of South Vietnam "would have great consequences for us."

Johnson settled nothing, as the Senate showed when it exploded in long debate Tuesday. Much of it was along the same old lines on bombing, but Johnson's point got some attention without changing his critics' minds.

First Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader of the Senate and an unwavering defender of Johnson's policies, in a dramatic, arm-waving speech, told the Senate defense of South Vietnam is essential to American security.

If Vietnam falls, he said, the shadow of communism will hang over all Asia and "then the whole Pacific coastline of the United States is exposed."

Up jumped Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, a Democrat and one of Johnson's most constant critics. "I don't agree at all," Fulbright said. The security of this country, he said, lies at home and elsewhere.

And he argued that continuing the war will weaken the United States at home and lessen its ability to defend its own security.

Accident Ends Career in Racing

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — The racing career of Fred Robertson, a jockey respected by his counterparts as a man who always worked hard, has ended with death in a freak accident during the post parade at Del Mar Turf Club.

Robertson, 31, was less than 50 yards from the starting gate for the second race Wednesday when his mount, a filly named Dublin Hearts, suddenly reared and came down on her haunches.

Robertson's head was crushed against the rail of the outside fence and he was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital. Doctors said he suffered multiple skull fractures.

"You haven't mentioned anything yet," he told Dirksen, "that makes me believe the objective is worth what we are doing."

The most puzzling part of all this argument is why Fulbright, and other senators equally unhappy about seeing the United States in Vietnam now, didn't oppose the American involvement from the first.

Three years ago the Senate overwhelmingly gave Johnson a go-ahead for getting involved if he thought it necessary to stop Communist aggression. They had it within their power to stop the involvement by refusing to give Johnson the go-ahead.

The Senate broke up Tuesday into the usual squad-squabble in which it debated bombing and, as usual, got into an argument on various reservations about the bombing, all of which, after many months of it, hasn't changed Johnson's mind.

For example, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., proposed that the United States should go beyond a mere halt in bombing North Vietnam and suspend all military operations in both North and South on a fixed date.

Then, he contended, if the Communists did not respond with similar action and an offer to talk, this country would be free to "pursue this war in any manner of its own choosing."

Then Fulbright backed Symington's call for a stop in all American military action on a fixed date but disagreed with the second part of his proposal that the United States continue the war as it saw fit if Hanoi didn't reciprocate when the United States stopped fighting.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, assistant leader of the Senate Republicans took a stand completely opposite that of Symington and Fulbright.

Election for Street Plan Is Nov. 7

Hope city directors meeting in special session last night set Tuesday, November 7, as the date for the city-wide vote on a proposed $765,000 street improvement program.

The directors unanimously passed ordinance No. 839 which calls for the financing of the program through insurance of general obligation bonds in the amount of $539,000; motor vehicle bonds in the amount of $129,000; and parking revenue bonds in the amount of $97,000.

All three issues will appear separately on the November 7 ballot. The bonds will be supported additionally by a pledge of surplus water and electric revenues. Based on present assessments and revenues, the program is designed to be paid out in 14 years or less. No federal aid is tied to the program.

The general obligation bonds will be secured by a levy of five mills on the dollar of taxable property; the motor vehicle bonds by a tax of $5.00 per year per vehicle; and the parking meter revenue bonds from net revenues of parking meter money.

City officials said that if the vote is favorable November 7, the actual construction work could get underway in the spring of 1968 and would extend over a two-year period.

The program is designed to construct a paved artery system on heavily traveled streets from north to south, east and west through the city, and would include the widening of streets, new paving, new curb and gutter, adequate storm sewers and lighting system.

The bonds would be callable before maturity and as quickly as they are retired, the tax would end. The program already has been endorsed by seven civic organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce, Hope Kiwanis Club, Hope Board of Realtors, Hope Rotary Club, Junior C of C, Business & Professional Women's Club, a Citizens Action Group, and has received editorial support by Hope Star.

An adequate street improvement program has long been studied by both the city planning commission and the board of directors . . . and now the issue will be up to the people in the November 7 city-wide vote.

Sentenced to 12 Years

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) - Robert A. Bakke, 30, of Pine Bluff, was sentenced to 12 years in prison here Wednesday after pleading guilty to second degree murder in the shotgun slaying of Kendall Lockhart, 59, of Risson.

Bakke originally had pleaded innocent to a charge of first degree murder. Circuit Judge Henry Smith handed down the sentence. Lockhart was shot at his home Aug. 16 with a 12-gauge shotgun.

Spending Cut Emphasized by House

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House emphasized its determination to show President Johnson it means to see spending cut before taxes are raised - it passes that message to the Senate.

The House refused Wednesday, 226 to 173, to consider a $3 billion money bill for the Labor Department and Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The reason: the Senate approved more spending than the President proposed for the two departments.

The action means a House-Senate conference committee must meet again to see if it can come up with a version satisfactory to the Senate and the economy-minded House.

Tuesday the House Ways and Means Committee set aside Johnson's bill for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge until there is concrete evidence that spending in this fiscal year will be slashed by $5 billion.

The House did vote Wednesday for a temporary appropriations bill financing until Oct. 23 several agencies which haven't received their annual money allotments yet. House Republicans made clear that further temporary measures would be opposed unless the $5 billion spending cut is assured.

Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., whose Appropriations Committee may wind up proposing most of the spending cuts, said he wanted to know "whether the economy drive is skin deep or bone deep."

Pointing to a dilemma bound to arise when decisions on spending cuts are made, Mahon noted that Rep. Garner E. Shriver, R-Kan., didn't approve a spending reduction in the Labor-Welfare bill for aid to schools in defense installation areas.

Shriver explained this provision would affect his home state. "The gentleman from Kansas is wanting to practice economy but not in his own district," Mahon said. "I must say we are all a little like that."

Many House members, especially Republicans, want Johnson to guarantee cuts before Congress appropriates. The administration argues Johnson can't cut until he knows exactly how much money he has to work with.

Ex-Inmate Hired at Prison Farm

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The state Penitentiary Board has approved the hiring of a former Tucker Prison Farm inmate as a gate guard at the prison, board member John H. Haley of Little Rock said Wednesday.

Haley said the man was placed on the state payroll as soon as he was released last month because he had an exceptional record of good conduct while in prison.

Both Tucker and Cummins Prison Farm have had trouble finding men to fill jobs created by the 1967 General Assembly, but Haley said that as far as he knew, this was the first time the prison had hired a former inmate.

UA Professor on Commission

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Robert R. Wright, professor of law at the University of Arkansas, has been appointed as one of three Arkansas commissioners to the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

He also was appointed chairman of a committee to draft a uniform eminent domain law and named to the Uniform Probate Code Committee.

The NCCUSL drafts uniform laws for submission to the various state legislatures. It is associated with the American Bar Association.

88,166 on State Welfare List

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - State Welfare Commissioner Len E. Blaylock said Wednesday that 88,166 Arkansans received assistance payments during September, 401 more than in August.

Blaylock said this was an increase of 6,213 compared to September 1966. He attributed the rise to a relaxation of eligibility requirements. Last month's payments totaled $6.5 million, he said, and went to the aged, families with dependent children, the blind and the totally disabled.

U.S. Allies Urge Halt to Bombing

By TOMHOGE
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) - In two weeks of debate, five of America's NATO allies and 18 other nations have urged a halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. Britain - reluctantly - was the only big power backing the U.S. raids.

The Vietnam war is not on the General Assembly's agenda but it has overshadowed all other issues, including the Middle East. Forty-nine out of 55 speakers in the general policy debate have called for an end to the conflict.

The 23 calls for a bombing halt ranged from denunciations of the United States by the Soviet bloc to a statement by Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin that a stop to the air raids is of "first priority" if the war is to be slowed and the door to the conference room opened.

The five partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization who joined in the call for a bombing cessation are Denmark, Norway, Belgium, France and Canada.

Others included two Scandinavian neutrals, three Latin Americans, seven members of the Asian-African group and six from the Soviet bloc.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown told the 122-nation assembly that he joined with those who "would dearly like to see" the bombing stop. "But I regret that the leaders of North Vietnam have never said what they will either do or refrain from doing to help the process of peace, if it is stopped," Brown added.

France echoed President Charles De Gaulle's line that the United States was endangering world peace through its involvement in Vietnam. French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville declared that only a "decisive initiative" by the United States, including unconditional, unlimited suspension of the bombing of the North, could lead to negotiations.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko replied to U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg's appeal for united peace efforts by U.N. members with the retort that "peace can be brought about in Vietnam only as a result of the withdrawal of the aggressors."

Boston Beats Cardinals to Even Series

Yastrzemski started it with a home run in the fifth and in the seventh he came through with another with three men on to make the score 5-0.

Lonborg had a no hitter until the eighth when Javier lashed a double. But the Cards could not score.

There will be no game Friday as the teams move to St. Louis.

War Dead in Vietnam Is Over 100,000

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) - The U.S. Command announced today that the number of American dead and wounded in the Vietnam war has passed 100,000.

The weekly casualty report came simultaneously with reports on one of the heavier days of air raids on North Vietnam with Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots hitting the port of Haiphong, two MIG airfields and two bridges near the Red Chinese frontier.

The U.S. Command disclosed the loss of three American planes over the North Tuesday and Wednesday, a period when the Hanoi government claimed 15 aircraft were downed.

Some sharp ground fighting was also reported, with 42 guerrillas killed in one series of skirmishes and air strikes. The casualty report listed 150 Americans killed and 1,758 wounded last week and said 1,155 Communists were killed.

The latest total, reflecting the lethal artillery exchanges with Red gunners across the demilitarized zone, pushed American casualties in the war to 101,034, including 13,643 killed, 86,635 wounded and 756 missing, by unofficial count.

At the current casualty rate, the Vietnam war will surpass the Korean conflict in six months and become the fourth deadliest war in the nation's history.

The intensification of the war, despite the absence of many large-scale ground actions, was reflected in the headquarters report of 53 ground sweeps in progress and new targets hit for the first time in North Vietnam.

Drunk Warden At Cummins Dismissed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - E.H. Clardy was dismissed last week as a Cummins Prison Farm warden because he showed up intoxicated at a church where he had taken several model prisoners to tell the stories of their rehabilitation, the state Penitentiary Board revealed Wednesday.

J.R. Price, an administrative assistant to Prison Supt. O. E. Bishop, quoted Elder Billy Mann of the Landmark Missionary Baptist Church at Newport as saying that Clardy sat in a pew smoking a cigarette during the panel's presentation and later came to the podium to try to speak to the congregation.

Price said the inmates took the warden out of the church and drove him back to the prison.

Clardy was in charge of the mechanic's shop at the prison. The board announced his dismissal after a 75-minute closed meeting called, the board said, to discuss security problems at Cummins, where there has been a recent rash of escapes.

Bishop said he still was investigating the escape of James Reeves, who was last seen when a warden gave him permission last week to leave the prison to meet a woman.

LEARNING FOR LIVING

4-H is more than champion steers, sewing lessons, cooking schools and blue ribbons. It is a way of life for more than 2½ million boys and girls across the country. 4-H and 4-H-like programs are benefitting 75 countries throughout the world.

Drawing participants from the 9 to 19-year-old age group, 4-H combines the best of learning and fun. It offers a wide variety of projects and activities which emphasize "learning by" and reward the members for personal growth and achievement. Hempstead County has six organized 4-H Clubs. They are: Guiding Star - Fulton, Greenhill, McCaskill, Shover Springs, Sprudell, and Victory.

Young people may choose their own individual 4-H projects from some 50 to 100 offered. These range from the traditional beef, calf, poultry, gardens, foods and clothing to automotive, career exploration, photography, and baby sitting. The scientist may choose a project in entomology, electricity, conservation, or others. And there are projects too, for the young owner of dogs and horses.

Boys and girls like 4-H for the many activities and projects it offers groups and clubs. Clubs may select such worthwhile activities and projects as safety, health, recreation, leadership, conservation, and community beautification. Volunteer adult leaders help guide and advise members of community and neighborhood 4-H Clubs. Two Hempstead County clubs chose their club projects. McCaskill club members visited eighteen homes in their community in a clean-up effort. The Shover Springs club set up six trash barrels for community use.

Now is a good time for boys and girls to join 4-H. Clubs throughout the county are organized. To find out how to join 4-H in your own area, contact the Hempstead County Extension Office at the Courthouse — phone PR7-5771.

Weather's No Confidence Vote

OTTAWA (AP) — The Liberal government of Prime Minister Lester Pearson weathered a nonconfidence motion on its housing policies Tuesday night by a margin of 14 votes, 112-98. Had the Liberals failed to muster enough votes, they would have faced the prospect of a new general election.

New 'Wind' Again Brings Applause

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — There were tears again on the faces of Atlantans, clad in black ties and fabulous gowns, Wednesday night as Sherman's troops laid siege to their town in the new premiere of "Gone With the Wind."

The applause, like the audience of 28 years ago, was spirited again when Scarlett O'Hara drew a revolver from the pocket of her skirt and shot the Yankee soldier who invaded her home, Tara.

The film classic of the South during Civil War days was a smashing success at its original premiere here in 1939 and it was a success again Wednesday. But there was a difference.

Olivia De Havilland, only surviving top star of the epic motion picture, and still strikingly beautiful, reigned as the undisputed queen of this premiere.

Other celebrities were Ann Rutherford, Evelyn Keyes and Victor Jory, all of whom starred in "GWTW."

There was a haunting nostalgia, however, for Clark Gable and Vivian Leigh, whose glittering presence at the original premiere caused the most excitement since Sherman marched through Georgia.

But Gable and Miss Leigh live on in the vital and indestructible roles they created in "GWTW" and are as real to Southerners as any historical figures.

Also missing was the author of the book, Margaret Mitchell, who was killed by a speeding taxi in 1949. But her brother, silver-haired Stephens Mitchell, was there.

"I only regret that Margaret isn't here to see how long her book has lasted," Mitchell said. Wednesday marked the sixth release of the movie, bringing it to a new generation, and, for the first time, in a wide screen version.

But it is the same spellbinding three hours and 40 minutes of the cotton, slave and carpetbagging era that is gone forever.

At the original premier, 300,000 persons lined the streets and traffic was virtually at a standstill. The state declared a holiday.

The crowds were fewer Wednesday night. About 3,500 persons watched as celebrities entered the theater.

Says Romney Adviser Gave the Briefing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman says a foreign policy adviser to George Romney helped give the 1965 Vietnam briefing which the Michigan governor recently called a brainwashing.

Meanwhile, another prospective Republican presidential candidate, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, says he has not indicated withdrawal of his support for President Johnson's Vietnam war policy.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, said Wednesday that Jonathan Moore, now a Romney adviser, was among U.S. diplomatic and military officials who briefed Romney in Saigon.

Romney labeled the briefing a brainwashing session which led him to endorse U.S. involvement in the war. He has since altered his position.

In 1965, Moore was a State Department official specializing in Far Eastern affairs and was official escort for Romney and nine other governors while they were in Vietnam.

Moore said in Lansing, Hays said Moore participated in "at least an important part of the briefing."

Hays said neither has answered an invitation to appear before his House Foreign Affairs subcommittee to discuss the brainwashing controversy.

Moore said in Lansing, Mich., "I don't think it becomes me to be commenting in public" on Hays' statement about the invitation and would not say he had received one. Moore added that any reply should be private.

Moore joined Romney's staff in April after leaving the State Department.

Romney was unavailable for comment.

Rockefeller was reported by The New York Times to have privately made known he no longer wholeheartedly supports the President's war policy.

"I have not said anything about Vietnam and I am not going to, except that I share the hope that an honorable settlement can be reached," Rockefeller told newsmen after the report appeared.

But Democratic National Chairman John Bailey declared Rockefeller is gradually pulling away from support of the President, contending "this shows he thinks he can wrest the GOP nomination away from GOP moderates and conservatives."

Bailey added that Rockefeller, who says he isn't interested in the nomination, "is not alone

Falls 12,500 Feet

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Joe Thrift plummeted 12,500 feet to earth from an airplane with his parachute partly unopened, hitting at 85 miles an hour.

Thrift, 34, a Navy boatswain's mate, suffered only bruises. He was listed in good condition at the naval hospital after the accident Tuesday.

"I thought the breath was knocked out of me," Thrift said. Other members of the volunteer skydiving team of which Thrift is a member advised him to lie still until an ambulance arrived.

among leading Republicans trying to sneak away from reality on the Vietnam issue."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., still another name in the GOP presidential sweepstakes, co-sponsored a Senate resolution asking President Johnson to "move with greater determination" to enlist the support of U.S. allies in the fighting. The resolution to be introduced today said American men shouldn't have to bear the whole burden of fighting to save the free nations of Asia from communism.

The resolution had 19 sponsors—13 Republicans and 6 Democrats.

Burned Slots Apparently Seized Again

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — State Police arrested three persons and seized more than 100 slot machines in two raids here Wednesday.

All but 18 of the machines were destroyed later in the day, and State Police Director Lynn A. Davis said those were supposed to have been demolished after raids on the Bridge Street and Ohio clubs Aug. 17.

Davis said they were being held as "evidence" at the request of Municipal Judge Earl Mazander.

The FBI began checking for federal law violations after Davis reported that a shipping crate especially designed for slot machines were among the equipment seized.

Davis estimated the total value of the equipment at between $150,000 and $250,000.

He personally supervised destruction of the paraphernalia, which was hauled to a vacant lot in three two-ton trucks. He said he was acting under a "verbal order" from Mazander.

The equipment was pounded apart with sledge hammers and then burned. Davis said it also included a "juice joint" used to control play on dice tables.

Davis said at a news conference following the bonfire that bulldozers would be brought in this morning to be driven over the equipment and complete the destruction. He said he didn't intend to leave a single piece as large as a silver dollar.

Police Chief John Erney, who supervised destruction of the equipment seized Aug. 17, said his officers also had used sledge hammers and fire, but that the things that wouldn't burn were left at the scene.

Wednesday's raids were on the Spa Amusement Co., which is located in a converted garage, and on a building behind the residence of one of the men arrested—John Sampson, a Hot Springs electrician.

Arrested at a house adjoining Spa Amusement were Tony A. Frazier and E. P. "Lefty" Wallman, both of Hot Springs. Davis identified both establishments as slot machine repair shops and said the men were repairmen.

The three were charged with possession of gambling equipment.

Davis said all but about 10 of the machines were seized at Spa Amusement.

He said the 18 that were supposed to have been destroyed previously were found at Spa Amusement, and that they were damaged and bore markings made by officers during the Aug. 17 raids.

Of the machines found at Spa Amusement, only 35 or 40 were in working order, he said.

Davis said many slot machine parts also were confiscated, and that they had been destroyed along with the machines.

Records in the secretary of state's office in Little Rock show that Spa Amusement was incorporated June 29, 1961, by D. O. Hattom, B. J. McNeil and J. O. Coley, all of Little Rock. The papers list H. Dane Harris of Hot Springs as agent for service.

Harris is president of the Vapors, a supper club he closed about two weeks ago after Hot Springs police raided the establishment and seized liquor they said was being used in the illegal sale of mixed drinks.

Davis said he couldn't say whether charges would be filed against anyone other than the three men already arrested.

Davis said he, one trooper and three agents of his department's Criminal Investigation Division, acting on information received Tuesday, had kept Spa Amusement under surveillance Tuesday night. He said some repair work was done on the machines while the establishment was being watched.

Pollsters See Rockefeller in Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pollsters continue to announce tallies indicating politicians who say they don't want to be president have the best chance of being elected.

Here is a roundup of polls, statements, trial balloons and grass roots pulse-taking in current presidential politics:

— The Gallup Poll reports 55 per cent of those responding would vote for a Republican ticket headed by New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller with 4Gov. Ronald Reagan of California in the second spot. Only 44 per cent favored President Lyndon B. Johnson and Vice President Hubert Humphrey. Both Republicans say they will not seek nomination to either position.

— An Assessment: Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., can win the Democratic presidential nomination from President Johnson, Gov. John Connally of Texas reportedly has told close friends. Connally says he is disturbed by prospects for "stability of the party," but would not comment on the rebirth. Kennedy says he isn't interested in the nomination.

— Response to an Ad: A Los Angeles clothier who, in a full page ad in the New York Times urged President Johnson to give up hopes for re-election, says he received 5,700 responses, 82 per cent of which were favorable. Harry Roth, who urges a quick end to the Vietnam war, says he also received $71,598 in financial pledges and the promises of 1,594 persons to work to help defeat Johnson and nominate another Democratic candidate.

— Draft Reagan: An Oklahoma Republican leader says three groups are working in his state to gain the GOP nomination for Reagan. And he says Reagan has endorsed their efforts but won't say so in public. Al Salpes, former Oklahoma County GOP chairman, said if Reagan is a candidate "he will be nominated on the first ballot at the convention. At this very moment he is 5 million to 10 million votes stronger nationally than Richard Nixon."

— More on Brainwashing: One of George Romney's present foreign policy advisers helped present the 1965 Vietnam briefing during which Romney now says he was brainwashed into endorsing the war. Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Mich., declared Wednesday. Hays says the adviser, Jonathan Moore, was a State Department official assigned to escort Romney and nine other governors during a Vietnam tour.

— Rockefeller on Vietnam: New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he won't comment on reports he no longer supports President Johnson's Vietnam war policy except to say "that I share the hope an honorable settlement can be reached."

— Democrats on Rockefeller: John Bailey, national Democratic chairman, says he is convinced Rockefeller really has changed his mind on Vietnam and takes it as a "clear sounding bell" of Rockefeller's intention to seek the GOP nomination after all. "If he plays politics with Vietnam he will live to regret it," Bailey said and added: "Rockefeller's appetite for the Republican nomination obviously has been whetted by Romney's blundering, Nixon's wondering and Reagan's thundering."

— Another voice: Campaign workers for George Wallace, former Alabama governor, reportedly have begun organizational meetings aimed at getting his name on the primary ballot in Ohio, Wallace, who tours California later this month, says he will run unless one of the major parties backs his drive to "return control of the schools to the states."

New Program to Aid Rural Unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government-business program aims to create industrial employment near home for jobless slumdwellers. But meanwhile an existing agency is working to keep the rural jobless from migrating to slums in the first place.

It tries to guide them to areas where work is available and visualizes a national job placement service.

The Economic Development Administration, set up two years ago as part of the Commerce Department, still isn't looking for overnight success.

Ross D. Davis, assistant secretary of commerce for economic development, said FDA programs are aimed at helping lagging areas reduce unemployment and increase incomes.

"The corollary must be that we will help stem and reverse the tide of migration that takes people to places where there are no jobs," he added.

EDA's Office of Policy Coordination said the flow of migrants from rural areas must be redirected to the medium and small-size cities where most new jobs are being created.

The plan involves job counseling, a comprehensive employment service and job retraining. Officials call the present federal-state employment service inadequate.

They want a network of employment services where jobs can be pinpointed throughout the nation and persons trained and directed to them.

This, officials said, will require a basic restructuring of the present employment service to provide data on jobs available not just locally but in many areas in the country.

EDA officials described as startling the projections it made for the growth of jobs in metropolitan areas.

Very small and very large areas, they said, will produce comparatively few new jobs in the future. The major growth will come in counties with a population ranging from 50,000 to 500,000 persons.

But unemployed persons from rural areas tend to concentrate in the big cities, officials said, where they feel the number of job alternatives are larger.

Ford Dealers Feel Pinch, Up Prices

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Many Ford dealers around the nation, feeling the pinch of the United Auto Workers union strike against their supplier, are demanding higher prices for 1968 Fords.

"The number of cars we have will last about three times as long as they usually do," said a Ford dealer in Atlanta, Ga. "But we'll be making about three times as much profit on each car."

An Associated Press check of Ford dealers in several major cities showed some also were closing showrooms and beefing up their efforts in the used car field.

Dealers whose Fords aren't selling fast said fewer customers come in because they think all Ford dealers already are out of cars.

On the basis of the checks in Atlanta, Los Angeles, Dallas, New York, Kansas City and Detroit, the average Ford dealer has enough cars on hand to last 25 days. This includes some left-over 1967 models.

But some dealers say they have only a one-week supply, others say their inventory will last up to two months, at current selling rates.

Automotive News, the trade publication in Detroit, reports that Ford dealers are not pushing order taking of new cars because they don't know when they can deliver the car.

The strike by 160,000 UAW members began Sept. 7 when the old three-year contract expired at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler. Today is the 29th day of the strike, which keeps Ford from producing cars.

Only Ford was struck in an attempt to win a settlement GM and Chrysler later will be asked to match or better.

There was some movement, but only a little, in Wednesday's bargaining session at Ford. Both sides said no settlement was developing.

Ford put forward several proposals in response to a union demand for changes in the apprenticeship program—the first time Ford had responded directly to union proposals since Aug. 29.

On Aug. 29, Ford made its economic counteroffer, the only other instance where it has made a proposal in direct regard to the union demands. The union rejected the economic offer as inadequate.

"It is the first movement we have gotten," said UAW President Walter P. Reuther of the apprenticeship proposals. Talks lasted only briefly Wednesday and recessed so the UAW could study Ford's apprenticeship program offers.

Near Miss Air Collisions
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A veteran of 30 years as an airlines pilot says the number of "near miss" air collisions is far greater each year than reported.

Capt. Robert Rockwell of Minneapolis, a pilot the last 25 years with Northwest Airlines, addressed the national convention of the Air Traffic Control Association Tuesday.

Rockwell told of several incidents in which other aircraft passed close enough to his that he "saw the pilot's face" clearly.

"Until we get a system that's foolproof, we have to rely upon radar," he said. "I wish radar was better, and I'm sure you do too."

The pilot said the air traffic control system must be improved.
